

Honestly, I was just too lazy to write a traditional CV—so I built this website instead. Turns out, showcasing your skills can be way more fun (and effective) when you make the platform yourself.